

Julian John

Julian became disabled in 2005 after a brain injury.

He has worked to help companies look after their workers.

He understands that companies need to understand more about their disabled workers.

He set up Delsion to help people know more about including disabled people.

Delsion made Swansea the first Disability Confident city in the UK.

Julian has also worked with the Welsh Government to help disabled people get jobs.

Julian works with Purple Light Up - an organisation that works around the world for disabled people.

Julian is the Chair of the Disability, Health and Wellbeing Policy Unit for the Federation of Small Businesses.
