

Linda Bamford

Linda is the:

- National Convenor of Disability Equality Scotland - this means she chairs the meetings for the whole country

- Ambassador for Spinal Injuries Scotland - this means she speaks to other organisations for Spinal Injuries Scotland

- National Convenor of the Government's Mobility and Access Committee for Scotland

- Commissioner for the Government's Poverty and Inequality Commission

- Equality Advisor for the Cairngorms National Park Authority - this means she gives advice about how to make things fair for everyone.

Linda used to be a nurse and a paramedic.

She had to take early retirement after an injury to her spine. She now uses a wheelchair.

In 2021 she was a finalist for Scotswoman of the year.
