The
TRIPLE CRIPPLES

Jumoke Abdullahai and Kym Oliver make up the Triple Cripples.

They want things to be more equal for people who are both non-white and disabled.

They came together to make these people more visible and seen.

To raise awareness they have both:

- filmed videos
- been part of interviews

- given speeches and talks
- been involved with media, such as the BBC
- given their thoughts and opinions to many different organisations.
